A Message from Pastor Paul Behnke,

The new school year starts for our family this week. We'll be back to structure and routine. We'll be back to homework and earlier bedtimes. Regardless of the makeup of your family, fall is the changing of a season, and with every season comes a new opportunity to talk about values and priorities. What will you choose to be a part of? What will you choose to put first in your schedule? Join our family this year in trying to live out this verse, "But seek first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well." (Matthew 6:33)
